NAVAL FORCES ARE GUARDING THE FIRE ZONE

Over $2,000,000 Loss is Estimated in Business Section of Norfolk, Virginia

SUSPECTS ARRESTED AND HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

One Fireman Loses Life and Several Seriously Hurt—Hampered By Cold

(Associated Press Telegram)
Norfolk, Va., Jan. 2.—Twenty-five suspects were on the grill today in the investigation of the mysterious series of fires which yesterday did $2,000,000 damage in Norfolk and lesser damage in Newport News and Portsmouth nearby.

A mass of ice-covered ruins was today surrounded by sailors, marines and home-guards, and the city gave the appearance of being under martial law.

While the local authorities seemed today to be less of the opinion that the fires were part of a plot to destroy the city, or to distract attention from the government's war plants on the waterfront while enemies might work destruction there, the department of justice was active today and about 20 suspects were turned over to government agents by the police court without hearing.

Two women are among those detained and among the men is W. J. A. Brosnort, who is charged with having made disloyal remarks while the Monticello hotel was burning.

His room at another hotel was searched and there were found German papers, maps of Norfolk, a book of German memoirs with a picture of the kaiser on the flyleaf, and a locked box. The authorities took possession of all. Nothing has been given out of what has been learned from the men and women under detention, except that valuable information concerning Germans here has been obtained from them. Two more injured firemen were added to last night's list of casualties. They were caught by falling walls on Granby street. Heavy snow was falling today and strange coming into the city were being cared for by private homes and institutions.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Norfolk, Va., Jan. 2.—Marines and bluejackets stood guard today over the downtown section of Norfolk where three separate fires yesterday wiped out five of the city's largest buildings, entailing a loss estimated at $2,000,000. Police chief Keller and Fire Chief McLoughlin today were less inclined to place blame for the fires on incendiaries, although both declared that the circumstances were suspicious. Military guards, however, were in no way relaxed and during the night all persons who could not give an account of themselves were warned away from the business section.

WILL NOT DETAIN THE MYSTERY SHIP

(Associated Press Telegram)
A Pacific port Jan. 2.—While the Russian steamer, Shilka, regarded as a "mystery ship" for some time after her arrival here from Vladivostok under Bolshevik control, is still closely guarded by police and federal officers, the sailors are now allowed the freedom of the city.

Government officials, it was said today, have decided there is no reason for detaining the steamer and she is now taking a cargo of pigiron for the return voyage. When the Shilka arrived here last month it reported that she had brought $100,000 in gold for the defense of the B. V. W. now awaiting trial at Chicago and for a time it was thought she might be interned.

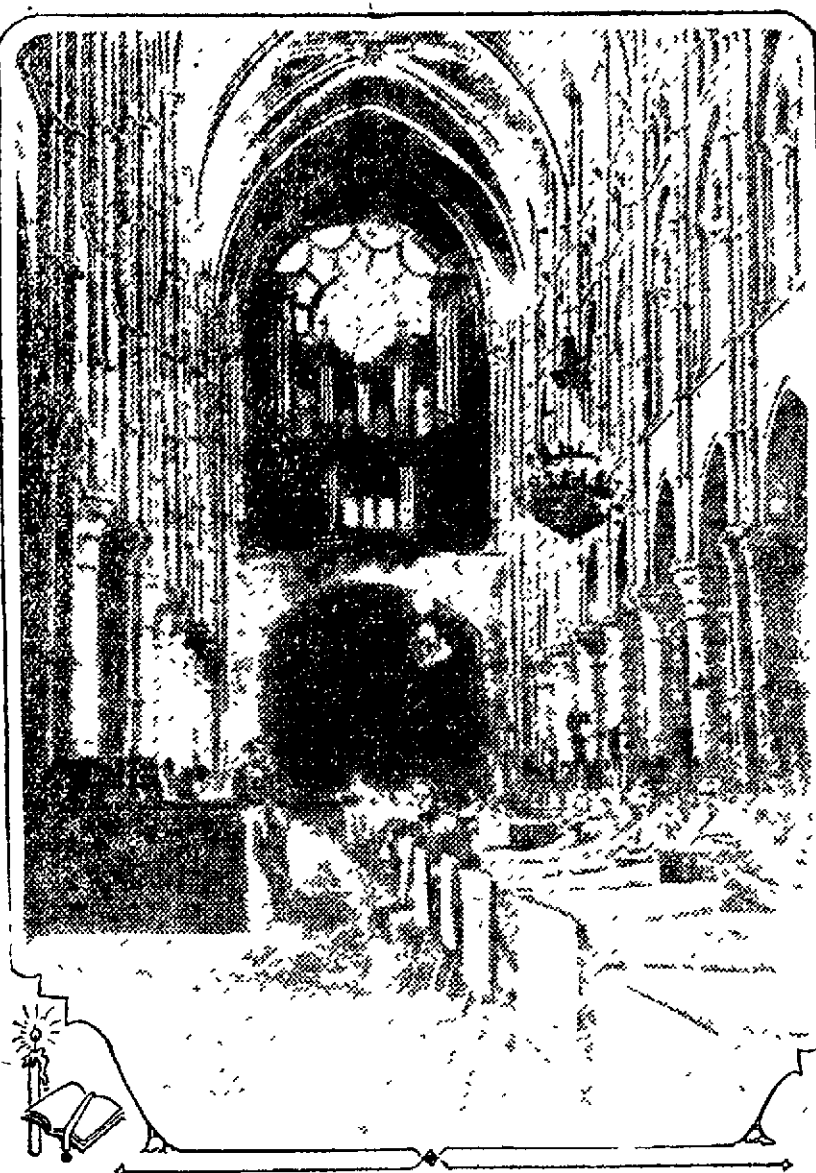

Sailors of the Shilka's crew have been buying merchandise heavily for sale on their own account when they again reach Vladivostok. Their rules have been accepted by local merchants as having a value of 10 cents. One sailor purchased 20 pairs of women's shoes, retailing for $10. He said they would sell in Russia for $30 a pair.

They are Privates Babe Collier, Thomas McDonald, James Robinson, Joseph Smith and Albert D. Wright. Execution of the sentences will be suspended until after the case is reviewed by President Wilson.

Three of the 15 tried were sentenced to ten years at Leavenworth and six to seven years each.

TERMINATE THE BREST-LITOVSK NEGOTIATIONS

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, Jan. 2.—Peace negotiations at Brest-Litovsk have been broken off by the Bolshevik government owing to the German attitude in regard to Poland and Lithuania and the enemy's proposal that garrisons be retained at Libau, Riga and elsewhere, according to a telegram from the Petrograd correspondent of the Daily News appearing in a late edition of that paper today.

The dispatch quotes an article from the Bolshevik newspaper Izvestia discussing the "new phase in the peace negotiations." The article says that owing to pressure from below the Germans have been obliged to soil their lips with the formula put forward by the socialists at the beginning of the war, but the German imperialists would not be imperialists if they did not try to take back in fact what with gritted teeth they yielded in words.

The Russian revolution cannot accept their conditions to retain Poland and Lithuania. "Just you try it, gentlemen," says the Izvestia.

This is the line, the correspondent of the Daily News adds, that probably will be taken at a general meeting tonight (Tuesday) to consider the report of the Russian peace delegates.

The Bolshevik aim, he adds, is a world revolution of peace on their own terms which they think will discredit the imperialists generally. The correspondent continues:

"And if in the long run Russia is driven to conclude a separate peace on any other terms, I prophesy that Russian signatories to such a peace will not be Bolsheviks but members of opposition political parties."

The Daily News correspondent says further that considerable numbers of Red Guards are being sent to reinforce the front and that other preparations for defense are being made.

It is not clear from the dispatch of the Daily News correspondent when the meeting which is said to have resulted in the breaking off of peace negotiations was held and there is a possibility that the report refers to an alleged rupture of negotiations several days ago when the discussions were adjourned.

"I have private and reliable information with regard to the breaking off of the peace negotiations which establishes beyond doubt the honesty of purpose of the Bolsheviks," says the correspondent, whose dispatch is dated Tuesday. "The Central Powers proceeded to make a more detailed statement of terms, from which it appeared that they considered Poland, Lithuania, Courland, etc. had already defined themselves. They further based their demand on the statement of Ukraine that it would not recognize peace negotiations set which it was not representative officially. They demanded that they should keep garrisons at Riga, Libau and other strategic points."

The Russian delegation, acting on unequivocal instructions from the Bolshevik authorities, took an uncompromising attitude. They said self-determination was impossible until the last German soldier had left the country.

Further, they asked the Germans, asking what they proposed to do. They asked whether they intended to take Petrograd and feed 3,000,000 starving folk or to disarm a revolutionary country in which every workman had a rifle. They also asked what the Germans proposed to save to their own democracy, which protested a couple of months ago against the proposed annexation of Poland and Lithuania. They remarked that they were surprised that even the Prussian junkers had such audacity.

The Germans asked time for consideration and begged that this stage of the negotiations should not be published. The Russians refused to allow this and left Brest-Litovsk. Negotiations for a general peace at Brest-Litovsk were adjourned Dec. 25 until Jan. 4. Since then at Brest-Litovsk and in Petrograd representatives of Russia and the Central Powers have been discussing informally points to be settled in the event of a peace agreement being reached. Provisional agreement has been reached on some points but the Russian proposals regarding occupied territories were not received with favor apparently by the Germans.

A report from Amsterdam on Dec. 31 said that Dr. von Kuehlmann, the German foreign secretary, would appear before the foreign committee of the German Bundsrath on Wednesday to explain the status of the Russian negotiations.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Halifax, N. S., Jan. 2.—Official announcement was made here today that the Canadian government had passed an order in council authorizing the commandeering of lumber, timber and building material for reconstruction of the section of Halifax destroyed by the explosion of a munition ship and fire on December 6.

Members of the reconstruction committee said the action of the government would speed up plans for rebuilding, delayed heretofore by failure to obtain supplies.

Reports from the hospitals today showed six hundred wounded patients still under treatment. Many of these cases are serious.

CONGESTION OF RAILROADS IS BEING CLEARED

Hundreds of Coal Cars Moving Today Over Eastern Railways

COAL WILL BE RUSHED TO THE NORTHWEST AT ONCE

Director General McAdoo Believes Congestion Responsible For Famine

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Jan. 2.—Hundreds of coal cars, released from yards where they have been stalled behind shipments of higher preferential ratings, were moving over eastern roads today to relieve the acute coal shortage in the northeast.

The movement, a part of the government's plan to clear up the traffic congestion, was ordered yesterday by Director General McAdoo based on the belief that the congestion rather than an actual shortage was responsible for the fuel famine.

All existing priority orders were suspended by Robert S. Lovett, priority director of the war industries director general, with the expectation of a freer movement of all freight as well as coal will result.

The director general also broke a railroad precedent by ordering the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel, under the Hudson river, heretofore restricted to passenger traffic, to be used to move coal trains into New York.

Members of the shipping board conferred with Mr. McAdoo today to determine the number of ships available for transportation of coal from Hampton Roads to New England ports to assist in relieving the situation.

Indications today were that President Wilson would go before congress Friday to present his recommendations for legislation to make government operation of railroads fully effective and provide for reimbursement of the roads on the basis of pre-war earnings. The president's plans already have been drafted into legislative form and bills embodying them probably will be introduced in both houses immediately after his address.

ASSUMES DUTIES AS ASSISTANT DIRECTOR-GENERAL OF R. R.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Jan. 2.—Alfred H. Smith, president of the New York Central railroad, today assumed his duties as assistant director-general of railroads for the eastern section of the country, and his plans for relieving congestion on all lines, especially near New York, were put into effect.

Shipment of coal was given preference over passenger traffic in an effort to relieve the coal famine here and in New England.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad uses the Pennsylvania station in Manhattan for its passenger traffic the change necessitating a revision of the scheduled of the roads. A further material reduction in the passenger service on the eastern railroads may be expected in a few days, according to the present plans.

The break in the cold wave yesterday caused railroad officials and fuel administrator in regard to local fuel situation more hopefully. Although coal was still scarce today, Reeve Schley, the country fuel administrator, said that the supply at Tidewater was larger and that distribution was improving.

While there was still much discomfort in all parts of the city, the suffering in the poorer sections was considerably abated.

THREE BOYS PERISH ON THE ICE BETWEEN TWO ISLAND PORTS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Toledo, Jan. 2.—Three boys perished and one man was terribly frozen in a New Year's Day battle on the ice on Lake Erie, between Marblehead and Kelley's Island.

The dead are: George Kruko, 14, Mike Zebekie, 12; Joe Oniko, 13, all of Marblehead.

The boys with George Priest, 27, walked from Marblehead, four miles across the lake to Kelley's Island yesterday. They started on the return trip at noon. Then encountered a north-east gale, a blinding snow storm, and zero temperature.

At 7 o'clock last night members of the Marblehead coast guard saw a man half a mile off shore on the ice. They brought him in. The man was Priest, dazed and frozen.

He said he had left the Kruko boys' dead body on the ice and the other two had started back to Kelley's Island. Telephone information that the boys did not reach the land and that the gale had broken the ice in the channel. Big fires were kept burning all night along the south shore and whistles in the stone quarries were blown constantly. Coast guards searched until late last night for the boys and resumed work this morning.

They say without doubt all the boys perished and that their bodies may have been carried farther out into the lake by the flows.

RUMORS PERSIST THAT CHARLES HAS SUCCEEDED TO THRONE OF RUMANIA

Crown Prince Charles

Persistent rumors reaching European capitals tell of the abdication of King Ferdinand in Rumania and the succession of Crown Prince Charles to the throne. King Ferdinand, a member of the Hohenzollern family, took the throne in 1914 at the death of his uncle, King Charles.

WILL PLEAD GUILTY TO BROTHER'S MURDER

Goochland, Va., Jan. 2.—As Dr. Asa W. Chamberlain went on trial here today for the murder of his brother, Albert P. Chamberlain, he repudiated his counsel's statement that he would plead guilty and ask the mercy of the court and reiterated his innocence.

Goochland, Va., Jan. 2.—Interest in the trial of Dr. Asa W. Chamberlain, charged with the murder of his brother, Albert P. Chamberlain, set for today in circuit court here, was heightened by the announcement yesterday at Richmond by James C. Page, counsel for the accused man, that he would enter a plea of guilty. The state had prepared a circumstantial case seeking to show that the men quarreled over a debt, and that the physician killed his brother, whose body was later found buried in portions in the physician's yard near here.

DRASTIC MEASURES DECIDED UPON BY THE FRENCH SENATE

Paris, Jan. 2.—Three drastic measures for the conservation of food and other supplies have been decided upon by the minister of provisions, Victor Boret. All shops of confectioners and pastry cooks are to be closed, restrictions will be placed on restaurants which charge high prices to prevent them from outbidding the more popular establishments in purchasing supplies and the private use of automobiles will be prohibited. These measures will be put into effect as soon as the senate passes the bill, already voted by the chamber of deputies, which confers on the minister power to enforce his decrees by the infliction of penalties.

FIRE DESTROYS MUNITION PLANT AT HARRISBURG

(Associated Press Telegram)
Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 2.—Fire of mysterious origin, starting in the paint shop, damaged the plant of the Harrisburg Pipe and Pipe Bending company early today to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars. The plant is engaged largely in the manufacture of four-inch shells for the U. S. government and hundreds of these in the last stages of completion were destroyed.

FORCED TO CLOSE FOR LACK OF COAL

(Associated Press Telegram)
Chicago, Jan. 2.—Heavy snows in the middle west in the past 24 hours left Chicago's coal situation acute today and caused a big steel plant here working on government contracts, to partly close down, throwing 1000 men out of work. Several other plants will be forced to close unless fuel can be obtained, officials said.

While the weather has not been cold for several days, 4-12 inches of snow in 24 hours greatly delayed transportation.

TROOPS MUST BE RUSHED TO EUROPE QUICK

Recommendations of American Delegates Made Public Today

CLOSER CO-OPERATION OF ALL THE BELLIGERENTS

Allied Nations to Arrange For Greatest Tonnage For Transportation Soldiers

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Jan. 2.—American troops are to be rushed to Europe in as large and as constant a stream as is humanly possible; the allied nations will so arrange their shipping as to provide the necessary transport; the merchant ship-building program must be rushed; there is to be closer co-operation of all the belligerents to present a single and united front to Germany autocracy; the part of the United States has been clearly defined and arrangements made to carry it out.

These are the principal results, as they affect America, of the recent inter-allied war council in Paris, announced today for the first time by the state department.

These recommendations, made by the American delegates, of whom Colonel E. M. House, President Wilson's personal representative, was the head, are the result of the great council of heads of all the co-belligerents.

Through a new inter-allied organization for co-ordinating shipping resources, arrangements have been made to "devote the greatest amount of tonnage possible for the transportation of American troops."

A definite plan was formed for more active utilization of American naval force and an agreement was made with the British admiralty to effect certain plans for anti-submarine warfare.

The contribution of the United States to a pooling of war resources was agreed upon. The arrangement guarantees full equipment of every land unit and will be available to equip American forces sent to Europe during 1918.

Arrangements were made to have the United States participate in military deliberations of a supreme war council "as a step toward efficient and centralized unity of control of military operations."

Plans also were worked out whereby, in order to permit the United States to visualize the problem of food control at home, Great Britain, France and Italy agreed to legal and compulsory control of food stuffs in the countries.

The extent of the military effort to be aimed at by the United States was clearly determined, and an allied advisory board was created to advise each nation of allotments of ships, so as to permit the American military efforts to be realized.

The principal recommendations of the American delegates, headed by Colonel E. M. House as President Wilson's personal representative, are:

"That the United States exert all their influence to secure the entire unity of effort, military, naval and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)" economic between themselves and the countries associated with them in the war.

"Inasmuch as the successful termination of the war by the United States and the allies can be greatly hastened by the extension of the United States shipping program, that the government and the people of the United States bend every effort towards accomplishing his result by a systematic co-ordination of resources of men and materials.

"That the fighting forces of the United States be dispatched to Europe with the least possible delay, incident to training and equipment."

The following statement by the state department was made public in connection with the recommendations:

"A review of the report filed with the department of state of Colonel House, the head of the special war mission, which visited Great Britain and France in November, shows that it succeeded in its purpose of reaching a definite working plan for the prosecution of the war through co-operation of the governments represented at the conferences held in Paris in the various fields of activity and through marshaling the resources of the nations at war with the central powers and co-ordinating their uses under a common authority, thus avoiding the waste and uncertainties that arise from independent action.

"The results of the conference as shown in the report are most gratifying to this government—first, because they indicate that the conferees were inspired by the desire to be mutually helpful; and, second, because the agreements, which were reached, when in full operation will greatly increase the effectiveness of the efforts now being put forth by the United States and the allies in the conflict against Germany and Austria-Hungary.

"A summary of the results accomplished at their conferences and the recommendations made by the American mission will indicate the value of the work done and the practical methods which were considered by the conferees and which are recommended in the report."

The summary of "result accomplished" is divided under diplomatic, naval, military, finance, shipping, war trade.

The sub-headlines naval, military, diplomatic and shipping here follow in full.

"Naval."

(1) The formation of an international naval council to co-ordinate the operation of the naval forces of the United States and her associates in the war so that these forces may in the future be operated as one in the prosecution of the war on the sea and in conjunction with the land forces.

(2) An agreement between the

BRITISH ADMIRALTY AND THE NAVY DEPARTMENT PUTTING INTO EFFECT CERTAIN PLANS RELATIVE TO THE PROSECUTION OF THE NAVAL WAR AGAINST THE SUBMARINES.

(3) The formation of a definite plan for the more active utilization of American naval forces in conjunction with those of nations engaged in the war against the central powers.

(4) Agreement with the British admiralty making it possible for naval officers to keep fully informed of the operations and policy of the British admiralty so that perfect co-operation between the navy department and the navy is assured.

(5) Reorganization of American naval force at French ports.

(6) The securing of a full and detailed picture of the naval problem in American waters.

"Military."

(1) After conferences extending over approximately thirty days with the chiefs of staff, members of the general staffs and commander in chief of the allied armies on the western front, as well as with the highest officials of the respective governments, the extent of the military effort to be aimed at by the United States was clearly determined.

(2) With this determination in mind negotiations were carried on looking to the pooling of resources for the mutual advantage of all the countries engaged in the war against Germany. The contribution of the United States to this pooling arrangement was agreed upon. The contributions likewise of the countries associated with the United States were determined. This pooling arrangement guaranteed that full equipment of every kind would be available to all American troops sent to Europe during the year 1918.

(3) Unqualified support of the resolution adopted by the inter-allied conference looking to the creation of an allied advisory board charged with the duty of each nation concerning the allocation of tonnage, so as to permit the American military effort to be realized.

(4) Full survey made of the problem of debarkation into Europe of American military forces and transportation of such forces and supplies to the bases of military operation.

(5) Arrangements made for fullest co-operation between the United States, Great Britain and France in the production of military instruments and supplies of all kinds.

(6) Plans made for the proper organization under naval and military control of ports of debarkation of troops and discharge of cargoes looking to the most economical utilization of tonnage.

(7) Participation in military deliberations of supreme war council as a step towards efficient and centralized unity of control of military operations.

case and the fires were thought to have been accidental.

Revised lists of the casualties from the fire which engaged the attention of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Suffolk firemen all day yesterday and into the night showed that Charles McCoy, a fireman, was the only person known to have lost his life. Four firemen were seriously hurt and a score of others were less seriously injured. Firemen said it was possible that removal of debris would show other deaths from falling walls.

From the time the first fire broke out at daybreak yesterday in the old Granby theatre, until the flames appeared in the Monticello hotel and later in the Lenox building, firemen were hampered by the bitter cold. Sailors and marines were quickly called out and joined heartily in the work of rescue and fire fighting.

Reports began coming in that bombs were causing the fire to spread and that persons had been seen setting buildings on fire, and while no confirmation of these reports developed, they led to extra precautions being taken and a large part of the business district was surrounded by a cordon of marines and sailors.

More than a score of persons were arrested as suspects during the day and night and about a dozen held for investigation. Two men thought to be Germans were among those held. They gave their names as Hugo Schmidt and H. K. Lessing.

The arrest of suspects was followed by the closing last night of theatres, poolrooms and all downtown places where persons might gather. It also was said that all members of the naval forces here who had been away on furloughs had been ordered to return immediately to aid in maintaining guard over the fire zone.

And on Fred C. Wilson stated today that there had been 4551 dogs licenses issued. He also stated that there would be no action taken against the dogs that are not registered until next week as the law went into effect so soon it was impossible for the clerks in the auditor's office to take care of everybody that came for tags last week. The auditor also stated that they had plenty of tags to supply everybody.

Garden Hose Restores Vision.

Garden hose, at full pressure, restored a man's sight at San Rafael, Cal., recently. The man, Charles Brown fell 30 feet from the roof of his home. Neighbors turned the garden hose on his head as a first aid measure and after an examination Brown was found to be the better instead of the worse for his tumble. His vision was completely cured. He is wondering whether it was the fall or the garden hose that was responsible.

THE HANDY ORCHESTRA'S Jazz Dance Blues on Columbia Records

Old Mr. Jazz himself has been out-jazzed! The trick has been turned by the newest note in novelty, the last word in wizardry, the big, sweeping sensation of the hour—the most delicious dance music of the day.

THE muffled boom of the tom-tom flirts with the crash of barbaric cymbals; the hollow moan of weirdly swept strings is overwhelmed as jungle-land's wild symphony swells to its maddest height. Through it all, the fierce rhythm, the frenzied swing of a super-syncope that is sweeping the dance-world into a vortex of new delight. The Jazz Dance Blues are here!

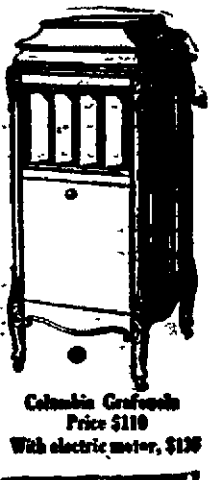

W. C. Handy, of Memphis, Tenn., is the originator and composer of these famous "Blues" successes. The Handy Orchestra of southern negro musicians plays "Blues" dance numbers as no other orchestra ever could.

This unique organization makes records exclusively for Columbia. You want its Jazz Dance Blues records for your party—they'll make it a success. You will respond to these records, whether you dance or not—they're great!

PHYSICIAN IS CHARGED WITH MURDERING WIFE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Louisville, Jan. 2.—All knowledge of the occurrences in his home between the hours of midnight and 8 o'clock Tuesday morning is denied by Dr. Harry H. Lewis, a well known Louisville physician, who is in the Jefferson county jail charged with the murder of his wife, Susan Lewis. It was some time within that period, according to physicians and acting Coroner Kammerer that Mrs. Lewis was murdered.

Her body was discovered yesterday by Dr. Edwin T. Bruce, who had been summoned to the residence by a neighbor who said Dr. Lewis had told her Mrs. Lewis was dead. On his arrival he found Mrs. Lewis' body in a kneeling position on the floor of her bedroom with head and arms pillowed on a couch. The room was in disorder, he said, and Dr. Lewis apparently under the influence of liquor or drugs was unable to give coherent answers to questions addressed to him.

Dr. Bruce called acting Coroner Kammerer who, when he found a wound on Mrs. Lewis' forehead ordered Dr. Lewis arrested and charged with murder. An autopsy later developed that death was caused by strangulation.

Late last night Dr. Lewis was questioned at the county jail, and according to the acting coroner said he had been with a party of friends and drinking heavily until nearly midnight Monday when he returned to his home. His wife was then in bed asleep, he told the acting coroner.

Tuesday morning he arose about 8 o'clock, Dr. Lewis said, and saw his wife kneeling beside the couch at which her body was found. He thought her asleep there, he declared, and did not disturb her. Sometime later, according to Dr. Lewis' story he discovered she was dead and then went to inform the neighbor who called Dr. Bruce.

GOOD TIME AT THE LOCAL Y YESTERDAY

The New Year's celebration at the Y. M. C. A. was well-attended, and the schedule of events went off in first-class fashion. Thirty-five younger boys went through the routine drills and exercises, and the same number of older boys gave a demonstration of the good work being done in their department.

The business men played volleyball and a picked squad of boys gave an exhibition of aquatics, and altogether the work of the physical department showed to advantage. Director Allen deserves credit for the way he handles one of the hardest propositions to handle—namely, the young American idea. His leaders, in the boys' department, are Ralph Stowell, Robert Erwin, Marion Green, Swisher, Marshall and Edward Quinn. He reports a circus for the near future, for which a troupe of tumblers are now preparing.

Prof. O. J. Barnes of the high school, gave a patriotic New Year's address in Taylor Hall, to which a gratifying number of boys attended in addition to the adults present.

The checker tournament was played during the afternoon, amid a crowd of onlookers. Hamburger sandwiches were dispensed at the ever-ready lunch-counter, and the day passed happily, a harbinger, we hope, of 364 more happy days.

CONSTIPATION CAUSES OBSTINATE HEADACHES

When your head aches you will usually find the bowels have been inactive, and if you relieve this condition, by clearing the intestinal organs of the fermenting congestion of stomach waste, foul gases and bile, the head is relieved immediately.

Remember this the next time you suffer from headache. The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended as a gentle laxative that acts easily and quickly, without griping or discomfort, or habit-forming drug, is pleasant to the taste, and a most effective household remedy. Mothers find it especially desirable as a laxative for children.

You can buy Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist for fifty cents. Get a bottle and have it in the house when needed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

NEW YEAR'S DAY IS CELEBRATED BY THE EAGLES

New Year's Day was appropriately celebrated by the members of the local Aerie of Eagles in their home in East Main street. In the afternoon the children of the members were invited to be present, and a handsomely decorated Christmas tree was provided for them in the large hall. In came a Santa Claus and he found a pretty present for each child. The tree was aglow with different colored electric bulbs and silver trimmings.

Next the children were invited to the banquet room and in came waiters with huge trays of ice cream, cakes and lemonade. Then there was candy, pop corn and nuts of all kinds. Everyone was given a generous portion and told to order all they cared to eat. It was a gala day and highly enjoyed by the large number of kiddies present.

In the evening a fine turkey dinner was served the members, their wives, daughters and sweethearts. After all the courses had been served Treasurer Charles Duerr acted as toastmaster and called upon the guest of honor, Hon. R. M. Knepper, past president, and an assistant in the attorney general's office at Columbus, who delivered one of the best addresses ever heard in the city touching on Eaglescom, our boys in war and the parts played by their mothers and sisters, bringing tears to many of his auditors.

State Secretary Ed. L. Hyneman of Columbus also gave an appropriate address and Daniel Murphy, the new president of the local aerie, also gave a splendid talk. Toastmaster Duerr in a witty speech then called the retiring president, Dave Murphy, to the front, and said it was the desire of his brothers to remember him with an appreciation of their respect and friendship, and presented Mr. Murphy with a handsome diamond-studded stick pin. Dave was equal to the occasion and although his voice was a little husky he managed to respond and thank his brothers.

The room was cleared and Col. Robert Dold's military orchestra took their position on the platform and dancing was indulged in until a late hour. Everybody present had a most enjoyable evening and many compliments were paid those responsible for the same, Henry "Henie" Fitzsimmons chairman of the entertainment committee, and his brother James, who arranged and supervised the banquet.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The great American news-gathering and distributing organization known as the Associated Press was the product of many minds, but the credit for the origination of the idea is usually given to Moses Yale Beach, who was born in Wallingford, Conn., 117 years ago today. Beach started life as a cabinet-maker, early invented a rag-cutting machine, and for seven years was a paper-manufacturer. In 1835 he bought the New York Sun, then a new and struggling penny-paper, from its founder, Benjamin H. Day. As publisher of The Sun Beach suggested that all paper in New York "pool" their news and sell it to outside papers. This was the origin of the co-operative news-gathering movement which has developed into the world-wide organization of today. Gerard Hallock was the first president and Dr. Alexander Jones the first manager of the "A. P." The plan was followed in other sections, and the New York Associated Press exchanged news with the New England, Western and other "A. P.'s." In 1882 the fraternal relations between New York and the Western organization ceased and for a time they remained rivals, but soon settled their grievances and combined their resources. The Advocate is a member of the Associated Press and is the only paper in Licking county that is served by the great organization. Every day except Sunday the Associated Press telegraphs to The Advocate approximately 15,000 words covering happenings of the world.

After examining more than 100,000 drafted men, New York physicians have come to the conclusion that a certain famous Rochester surgeon was right when he condemned the modern practice of wearing belts. The chief of one of the examining boards summarized the opinions arrived at by himself and his fellow-physicians: "Until we were forced to examine hundreds of thousands of men," he said, "I never took the question seriously of whether it was better to wear belt or suspenders. Now I know that this is a very vital question and that the innocent belt is responsible for many of the abdominal troubles so prevalent in this country."

EXEMPTION PROBLEMS.

Few people realize what a big problem is put up to every exemption board in the cases of men working on industries vital to the war. Where will a man do the most good, as a soldier, or in making supplies for soldiers?

Many people have encouraged their boys to go on farms in hopes of exemption. They pretentiously announce to their friends that the boys have entered the service of their country in the cause of agriculture.

The boys, however, may know nothing about farming, and can scarcely work half a day without getting their hands all blisters. They are probably not worth as much as some law-boned Pole, just over from the old country. Such excuses are not likely to count much. But a more difficult problem is created by many farmers' sons. Their energy and ability may be worth a good deal more producing food for soldiers than in fighting themselves. It is complained that many exemption boards have drawn the line too strictly. Many men have been taken out of shops when their places could not be filled, or only after long delay, and war supplies have been delayed.

Many employers want to keep on making money and hate to see useful employees leave. They may exaggerate the injury to production that would be caused by their departure. The men themselves probably do not undervalue their own importance. It is natural that the boards should want to be "shown." It is, of course, the simplest way for them to enforce the law rigidly, and this lets them out of the charge of favoritism. When a man is doing work vitally necessary to the war machine, that is probably the place where he can serve his country best. There is need for fearless and intelligent discrimination in each case. It will sometimes happen that the man who claims the exemption the most earnestly, is less entitled to it, and vice versa.

CONCRETE SHIPS.

The problem of getting enough ships built to take the place of those sunk by submarines, and enough to send the needed munitions and equipment and food to Europe is one of the biggest of the war. Some technical men say that building a lot of concrete ships would help out. They think these could be built by a type of labor that could not construct a steel or wood ship.

It takes less skill to pour and finish concrete, than to handle steel or wood structure. Such an auxiliary source of ship-construction might provide a lot of vessels that would not be built at all if the shipping board depends wholly on steel and wood.

The idea is not wholly new. Granolithic lighters, carrying 100 to 500 tons, have been used on inland waters for some time. The Scientific American prints an investigation of the subject by an expert writer. This authority finds the ideal practical. A firm in Norway has already built such a ship that has made a 2000-mile trip by ocean. It is now turning out a 4000-ton ship of concrete, and several smaller ones, and will soon put on one of 7000-tonnage. By using steel laths it reduces its hull wall to a thickness of 21-2 to four inches, thus providing lightness of structure.

These ships have not, of course, been tried out sufficiently yet so that they can be called positively a success. But the idea seems hopeful. Probably the shipping board is so engrossed in its project of turning out steel and wooden vessels that it has had no time to consider the possibilities of concrete.

It would not, of course, pay to divert any yard now making steel and wood ships into concrete work. But after the board gets its building program going, it might be able to start some concrete ships and rush them through with men who could not build steel or wooden vessels.

KEEPING UP MORALS.

In the British army a very close watch is kept over the temper of individual men. It is realized that an army is only as strong as the courage of its soldiers. A few fakers will discourage a whole company. So the non-commissioned officers know pretty well how their boys are feeling every day.

"How's Bill today?" asked the lieutenant of the corporal.

"O, well; so so, a good deal in the dumps."

"What's the matter?"

"Ain't heard from home for three weeks."

No wonder the man is blue. Someone looked the thing up. If there is a hitch in delivery of mail it is remedied.

Frequently it appears that the folks at home are writing blue letters. In that case some one in the home-town, the minister, the priest, the Y. M. C. A. man, or any army officer, is asked to see them. The mother or wife is told that she must stop writing blue letters. She must give the boy some cheer and give him some courage to lean upon. Soon some better sounding letters come along. Bill cheers up and his whole squad with him.

The effort will be made in the American army to keep watch of the condition and temper of each individual man. The home-folks should realize that they have much to do with this condition. If they don't write frequently enough, or if they write in a discouraged vein it depresses the man at the front. His depression communicates itself to others, and the morale of the army is injured. Everyone of us at home has his or her part to play.

Whatever misgivings or questionings one may feel, they should never appear in the letters to the soldiers. They need all the support from home they can get. With this support they will go into battle with more cheerful hearts, and with a determination to win that will make a world of difference.

MIDWINTER ADVERTISING.

The period after Christmas is traditionally one when the public expects bargains. Stores that do not take much pains to work off their stocks are apt to hold them until another year. Or more likely they have to sell at a big sacrifice about March 1, when a little enterprise would work them off now.

It is a time when unless the public is stirred up to buy winter goods, they may worry along until the season is over. They think the winter is about half gone anyway, and they don't feel much like buying now unless their attention is called to some bargain or something they want.

But enterprising stores have no particular difficulty in keeping the crowd coming. The customary advertising in the columns of The Advocate shows the public where good values can be had. Little complaint is heard from the stores that have the enterprise to tell the public what they have.

CONTROL OF RAILROADS.

(Philadelphia Record.)
The "great national necessity" which the President believes to compel the Government to take over the entire transportation system of the country is not the result of the war; it is the creation of Congress, possibly inspired by public opinion, and certainly very heartily reinforced by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The centralized management of the railroads is imperative, but the railway companies could have furnished this if legislation against combinations were not in the way. This legislation was wholly superfluous, because the Interstate Commerce Commission was quite adequate to prevent the combined railways from practicing extortion upon the public. The current difficulty in performing transportation is mainly a shortage of rolling stock. There would have been no shortage of cars if the Commission had been willing to let the companies earn a fair revenue. For nearly a year and a half the net revenues have been steadily running down. For a time the gross earnings increased, but were exceeded by the increased expenses; latterly even the gross earnings have been falling off.

Congress has always been willing to increase the expenses of the railroad, but the companies have very rarely been willing to allow them to earn any more. The employees demanding increased wages, which the Commission will not allow the companies to acquire the means of paying.

The situation had become intolerable. Efficiency could not be increased without a degree of co-operation which was liable to be held to be a combination in restraint of trade. The railroad companies could not earn enough to make it easy for them to raise new capital and therefore they could not keep up their facilities for doing their work. The employees were constantly demanding more wages, and the threat of strikes was in the background, for the railway companies had not the means of increasing pay, and a general strike would ruin the country and invite its defeat.

Therefore the action the President has taken seemed to be necessary, but Congress and the Interstate Commerce Commission ought not to have made it necessary. The Government will now have to solve the problems which the companies would have solved, but were not allowed to. If the calling stock is to be increased the Commission has very much to provide a large sum of money. The centralized management is a universal pool which the companies, under the restrictions of the Commission, might safely have been allowed to form. If the Government is to discharge the financial obligations it has assumed it will in all probability have to increase rates, which the Commission would not allow the companies to do. It will have to meet the pending demands of the men for wages, or see transportation stop, or try the highly hazardous experiment of conscripting labor.

The situation having become pretty nearly impossible, Congress and the Commission showing no disposition to make it possible, there seemed to be nothing for the Government to do but to take over the railways and do the things that it would not allow the companies to do. Naturally, most of the railway heads are glad to be relieved of responsibility, and the prices of stocks advanced promptly.

After looking at Germany's Christmas peace terms Russia probably will wish it had waited with the allies for the inevitable after Christmas reductions.—Kansas City Star.

UNITED WE STAND.

(Ohio State Journal.)
There may be two sides to the wheat question, the sugar supply, the railroad problem and other issues, in times of peace, but in time of war there should be but one duty and that is to stand by the government through thick and thin, and let our personal notions slide until the war is over, and then we can boost them to the front if we want to. The men at the head of the government are sincere and patriotic and want to stand our ground and win in the big war, and though we may sometimes feel they are not doing their level best and urge them to stronger effort, that is only in support of what they are doing and a little more. If a man is stalled in going up a hill and you jump out and give him a lift at the wheel, that is not criticism, it is encouragement and assistance. So all we ought to do is in the way of helping and assisting and not a bit in obstructing or in growing. We see several things that we wouldn't do, but we are for them anyhow. The duty of the hour is unity and tireless effort to help.

PEACE WITH VICTORY.

(Springfield Republican.)
If Russia has been able to hold Poland and the Baltic provinces and to defeat Serbia and Roumania, and if the allies in the west had been able to expel the invaders from Belgium and France and to protect the Italian frontier—under such conditions, certainly, we might speak of a negotiated peace and of peace without victory. Under such conditions the Pan Germans would be instantly see that their dream of conquest had failed and would be ready to make peace on fair terms. And if under such conditions any group of extremists in the entente countries should insist on refusing such terms and declare victory to be the only war aim, the pacifists would be wholly justified in such pleas as they are inappropriately making now.

Those who denounce victory as a war aim willfully misunderstand its meaning. If the war should end now on such terms as the military situation might justify, Germany in exacting, victory would have been achieved, but by the enemy. Till Germany has officially committed itself to war aims which the allies could accept, the war is necessarily for them a defensive war, and "victory," baldly put, means such a re-dressing of the balance as will constrain Germany to abandon its designs. Whether it comes from conspicuous triumphs on the battlefield or from a gradual strengthening of the alliance by better co-ordination and the systematic development of its immense military and economic resources is perhaps immaterial, but victory there must be in the sense of convincing Germany and its allies that to press a war of conquest further would be folly. In a defensive war that is the normal meaning of victory. To hold the frontier is best, if that can be done, but usually a predatory power breaks through, and defense becomes a question of dogged resistance, of finding new allies, of forcing the enemy to abandon his aggressive plans. It is essentially the position of the allies scattered over the world, they have immense resources which, if pooled and wisely used, can nullify German victories and make German hegemony impossible. But this is more likely to protract the war than to shorten it unless it is made perfectly clear that these resources will be used if necessary. Every pacifist demand for ending the war on whatever terms Germany in its present mood of triumph may design to grant, goes to increase the belief of the war lords that other enemies will weaken as Russia has done and as Italy seems to be doing when the drive against it was made.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER!

(Pittsburgh Gazette Times.)
A restatement in the most positive terms of Ally war aims is made easier by the peace proposals handed in by the Central Powers to the Russian Bolsheviks at Brest-Litovsk. That seems to be the view back of some of the cautious comments that have been cabled from abroad. Prime Minister Lloyd George says a statement of war aims can only be made agreeable with Great Britain's allies. He added the question of issuing a fresh joint declaration is being constantly kept in view. The opportune time is now. The declaration is not hard to frame. It is admitted on both sides that settlement of some details must be left to negotiations after the general terms of peace are arranged. The indispensable preliminaries to any conference must be bluntly described. The German program naturally calls it forth. German terms are tantamount to an admission of defeat in that they inferentially acknowledge she cannot win the war. She may be hoping for mercy or she may have contrived a trap into which she expects her adversaries to fall. Her motives are not important for consideration. She has tendered in part what she must yield as a basis of any peace. But the only terms possible of acceptance are complete submission.

Unconditional surrender by Germany is indispensable to enduring peace. The terms then will be dictated by the proponents of right in justice to all the fundamental war aim of the United States and the Entente Allies is victory. It may be achieved on the field or through surrender of the enemy. Let it be stated, accompanied by such details as will make the injustice of our objective clear and indisputable.

GERMAN EXPLANATIONS.

(Syracuse Post-Standard.)
The German editors, having read and digested the message of the President, have decided variously that the United States has gone to war with Germany.

Because Woodrow Wilson is an Englishman at heart.

Because American capital has money invested in British securities which it doesn't want to lose.

Because American newspapers subsidized by British gold, demand it.

Because American industry wants the nitrates of Alsace-Lorraine.

Because America has been promised Switzerland as its spoil of war.

It is possible, though highly improbable, that the editors, observing how irreconcilable the reasons they have devised are, and how far they fall short of meeting their conception of American commercial shrewdness, may be forced to the belief that the President has told the truth, and that America is at war not for spoil, but for an ideal.

Did You Know.
That it was not until the 18th century that January was universally adopted by European nations as the first month of the year? The Romans considered it as such as far back as 251 B. C., and it was by them held sacred to Janus, from whom it derived its name, and was added to the calendar, with February, or Numa. Janus was an ancient deity, the god of all beginnings. He presided over the beginnings of human life, of the day, of the agricultural year, and over gateways and openings. The flower of January is the snowdrop, its gem, the garnet.

No Time to Cry "Peace, Peace."
When Germany is in fear of exhaustion, her people are suffering on the verge of starvation and her remaining strength is being exerted to the limit with what looks like a final chance of success, and when her foes have a great reserve strength behind them to get it in effect, it is folly to cry "peace, peace." At such a time there can be no peace without defeat and defeat would be on the wrong side. There must be no peace without victory and that must be on the right side. As Lloyd George says, we are now dealing with a criminal state, whose criminal conduct has brought on the war, and there as they can gain by their crime.—New York Journal of Commerce.

Interment, Not Internment.
The time has come when something more severe than has yet been done should be accomplished in the case of German spies. No country has been worse cursed with these rascals than our own. Certainly not England, but a good many of England's German spies have died in the Tower, and the safety of the country has profited by this severity. Internment, or a polite sort of confinement, is thus far about the severest penalty which has been visited upon German agents in this country. For some of them an internment from which there is no possible escape is due.—Boston Transcript.

GAVE AWAY COAL TO THE NEEDY NEW YEAR'S DAY

Who is the most popular man in the town? Answer: The man who gives away coal. Then by natural deduction, Charles McNeal is enjoying great popularity, for on New Year's day he dumped a truck load of coal, six tons, to be exact, in front of his office in North Park Place. Beside it is a sign, "Free coal for the needy."

Many a human interest story might be written about the groups of people who visited the coal pile and took away their share on sleds, and wagons, in baskets and sacks.

Mr. McNeal, who is hauling coal in huge trucks from the Zanesville district, placed the coal at the disposition of the poor of the city, the only restriction placed being that they secure tickets signifying their worthiness from the Salvation Army.

All day New Year's there was a busy crowd securing a portion of the coal and many a home was made brighter by the warmth and light of the free coal on New Year's day. But a small portion of it remained today.

FIRST OF YEAR WAS TYPICAL WINTER DAY

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

Milady's Boudoir

The Winter Skin.

Chapped skin is very sure to be a common complaint in winter, and we know from experience how extremely irritating the one grievance can be. The more delicate the skin, the greater need of precaution against the cold, biting North winds.

I have seen some very stubborn cases of chapping render the sufferer most unsightly and, at the same time, cause acute pain.

The only way to guard chapped skin is to give it first aid in counteracting the effects of the cold, and rendering it as immune as one can make it against the playful zephyrs of Old Boreas.

One of the simplest and most effective ways of coming out of the winter months unscathed by the frosty winds is to apply a good cold cream liberally to the exposed parts. This does not necessarily require much time and the careful woman is amply rewarded for her forethought. Intense cold has a very drying effect on the skin and, therefore, the use of cream would be advisable for this reason alone.

Apply the cream with the finger tips, using a rotary motion. Go over the face, throat, hands and wrists, working it well into the pores. Warm the fingers, before touching the cream, so as to make it easier to absorb. Then remove all excess cream, save a little film, with a soft cloth. Go over the skin with a little absorbent cotton dipped in pure unscented rice powder, and you have excellent beauty mark. Leave on enough powder to remove all the moisture on the skin.

You may alternate this treatment with an oil rub, which will be very nourishing, filling in the hollows and scaring away any threatened wrinkles. Try almond oil for this, with a few drops of any desired scent. Warm the oil and wash the face with warm water and a good soap, or preferably a prepared meal which is less drying in its effect. Then apply the warm oil.

Our Boys and Girls

Is your child unmanageable, irresponsible, irritable, nervous, disobedient or tempestuous? If so, remember that these distressing faults are only perverted virtues, that behind them are invaluable powers and gifts, splendid material going to waste. To stop this, to make her child perform twice what he is today, the average mother need not spend any more time or energy or love than she is today giving to her child. But to her love and devotion she must add definite knowledge and take a new attitude toward the child.

It requires patience and endless courage to develop the child into the complete man or woman. Mothers are often responsible for many problems of childhood and for much of its needless waste. We must know our children. We must know their powers, their weaknesses, and must know how to direct and develop the first and correct the second. And we must know how to make use of the wealth of material and opportunities that are all about the average child in his everyday life.

Motherhood, mother-love, however noble and willing and well-intentioned, is not enough to make the most of a child.

Police Court.
Mayor H. A. Atherton acted for the first time in his official capacity as police court judge, on Tuesday, New Year's day, when two prisoners charged with intoxication were before him. Evidently not wishing to let a day of the New Year get by and fearful perhaps that the new mayor would not be officially welcomed, Ed Elbin alias "Granny" Elbin, was the first to greet his honor. Granny with the other drunk charge was fined $3 and costs. On Wednesday morning two more intoxication cases were before the court and were fined $5 and costs and the fines suspended if the costs were paid, which they were.

The Baptist church is all enclosed and the plastering is progressing nicely. The outside is near completion and it will not require much time for the interior to be finished. Contractor O. C. Hawkins, who had the contract, is also putting in new stairs and a new front in the K. of C. building in West Main street.

Thrift Stamps Arrive.
The demand for Thrift stamps and War Savings stamps has been greater than the supply. Postmaster Mercer wired to Cincinnati and received a special shipment last week and is today in receipt of a large shipment from Washington. The Pastakala and other postoffices of the county whose supplies of stamps were exhausted last week will now receive additional stamps promptly. Thousands of people are opening savings accounts with Uncle Sam. It takes only 25 cents to start. Ask your postman.

DRUG FIENDS DEVELOPED FROM USING "COUGH CURES"

New York Probe Reveals a Danger Which Threatens the Entire Public; Doctors Sound Warning

Witnesses testifying before the Whitney Joint Legislative Committee at City Hall, New York, have declared that they first began using morphine, heroin or some other opiate derived from the same base, by taking a "cough syrup" or "cold cure" which depended for its effect upon the nerve-deadening drugs which it contained.

While the National Law requires that the narcotic drugs contained in such nostrums shall be stated plainly on the label, it is none the less a fact that a large number of them depend for their effect upon opium, morphine, heroin, codeine, chloroform or other deadly drugs because of their power to give an immediate effect by deadening the nerves. When this effect has worn off you are worse off than before because the nerves have been weakened and the "cough or cold gets a firmer hold."

Because of the fact that Father John's Medicine is absolutely guaranteed not to contain any dangerous, narcotic drugs in any form nor any alcohol, it is a safe family medicine for young and old. It treats colds promptly and in the common sense, logical way. It soothes and heals the mucous lining of the throat and breathing passages. Its nourishing, strength-building elements build up new flesh and strength and its gentle laxative effects helps to drive out impurities and restore normal health.

Remember, Father John's Medicine is a doctor's prescription; not a patent medicine, and that it has had more than 60 years of success. Guaranteed.—Advertisement.

lived in Newark today to become engineer for the Blair Motor Truck company. Mr. Blair, designer of the Blair truck, expects to bring his family here from Columbus as soon as he can find a suitable home.

Wins Prize at School.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith of Hudson avenue have received word from Dubuque College that their son, Gerald, who is a sergeant in the K. O. T. C. had won a prize in the annual short story contest at that institution. Sergt. Smith leaves tonight to return to Dubuque, Ia.

Go to Indianapolis.
Prof. L. E. Walters, formerly of this city, son of Mrs. Walters of Cambria street, has taken a position as manual training instructor in the public schools at Indianapolis. Prof. Walters has been teaching manual training in the schools at Geneseo, Illinois.

Special Helms for Firemen.
As a special protection for the city firemen, new re-inforced helmets have arrived in the city, and are being distributed at the fire stations. The helmets are of heavy leather, re-inforced with steel. They are especially designed for firemen with a view of protection from falling debris.

Has Nervous Breakdown.
James P. Williams, well known North End mail carrier, is confined to his home in Thirteenth street suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Visited Newark Boys.
E. J. Moore, better known as the "Gabby" Trickster, son of Mrs. Louise Moore of the Union block, spent two days last week with the Newark boys at Camp Sherman, Montgomery, Ala. He reports that the boys are in excellent spirits and that those who were not in camp Christmas day missed a good time. Mr. Moore performed a number of his tricks which were greatly enjoyed all the more because he is a Newark boy himself.

Condition Satisfactory.
The condition of Mrs. A. H. Rickert of North Fifth street, who underwent an operation at the City Hospital on Saturday morning, continues to be satisfactory. The operation was performed by Dr. T. K. Essington, assisted by Mrs. Rickert's brother, Dr. C. F. Tenney of Toledo.

Those who like songs of tender sentiment, sweetly human, will find unusual pleasure in "Danny Boy," the latest record of Schumann-Heink. It is an old Irish folk-song—a woman's farewell to the lad who has heard the pipes calling across the glen. And who could better sing such a story? Schumann-Heink has lived through the whole gamut of human emotions. She is loved for her humanity as well as admired for a remarkable voice. She now has four sons in the service of the United States and is giving her art for the benefit of soldiers in camp as freely as she has always given herself for humanity's service.

Harry Lauder is another whom the war has affected profoundly. It is a different Harry Lauder since the death of his son on the battle line in Flanders. His recent tour in this country showed that he could make the people weep as well as laugh. All the old lilt and gaiety, however, are bound up in his new record, "I Love to Be a Sailor," and more, a humor that is richer, more human. This record is different from any of his others and will be welcomed by thousands of old and new friends of the famous comedian who is now giving all his time to raising funds for relief work in connection with the war.

NEW PATHE RECORDS FOR JANUARY.
The Pathe January record list is a convincing argument in favor of the Pathe Freres Phonograph company's claim that theirs is the largest and most diversified record repertoire in the world.

A strong touch of patriotism is given the list by "America," sung in its new American melody setting, by Gordon MacHughes and Male Chorus; a rendition of "Hall Land of Freedom" and "Battle Cry of Freedom," by the Pathe Concert Orchestra; two army descriptive, "Arrival of U. S. Troops in France," "Hall! Hall! The Gang's All Here," and by two dramatic recitations by Russell Hunting, "Barbara Frietchie" and "The Dying Soldier."

The first number on the popular song program is "The Crickets Are Calling," from the new musical comedy, "Leave It to Jane," sung by the sweet-voiced soprano, Emma Stephens, who also offers "The Man in the Battle Plane." Other popular numbers listed are "It's a Long Way to Berlin," sung by Fred Fairbanks, tenor; "That's What Ireland Means to Me," sung by Harry MacKleskey, tenor; "The Old Gray Mare," sung by the University Quartette, and "There It Goes Again," a rag-jazz song by Noble Sissle, tenor.

Even a one-step can be patriotic as evidenced by a dance arrangement of the popular patriotic song, "Send Me Away With a Smile"—one of the eight dance numbers comprising the Pathe January list of dance recordings; "Sing Me Love's Lullaby," medley waltz; "Sallia"

MUSIC

Victor Company Opens New Field of Musical Delight.

Another great achievement of the delight of music-lovers was accomplished when the Victor company successfully recorded the music of a full symphony orchestra. Two records of Brahms' Hungarian Dances, as rendered by the famous Philadelphia Orchestra of 94 musicians, appear in the list of Victor Records for January. They are delightful records, rich in the tone quality for which this orchestra is noteworthy. A new field of musical enjoyment has thus been brought within the compass of the home—the instrumental music of the world's largest orchestras. The two dances selected for this occasion, "No. 5" and "No. 6," are interesting for their wide variety of melody, rhythm and harmony. With tender lyric measures and gay, fantastic outbursts, the wealth of orchestral coloring keeps the ear pleasantly engaged with new instrumental combinations. They are genuine Magyar tunes, handed down by Hungarian gypsies, arranged by Brahms, and played in superb tone with dash and vigor of this orchestra.

Caruso's Golden Voice at Its Best.
Admirers of Caruso who have heard him in opera recently declare that the golden voice of the world's greatest tenor apparently, was never in better condition. It would certainly seem so from the beauty of his latest Victor Record. For January he has "Oh, My Fate," from Rubinstein's Negro, and the long-drawn swelling cadences of that most interesting song show his great voice in all of its magnificent power. When this opera was produced in New York a few years ago, it proved to contain some exceedingly beautiful music, and now one of the most delightful episodes has been thus recorded.

Schumann-Heink Sings Irish Folk-Song.
Those who like songs of tender sentiment, sweetly human, will find unusual pleasure in "Danny Boy," the latest record of Schumann-Heink. It is an old Irish folk-song—a woman's farewell to the lad who has heard the pipes calling across the glen. And who could better sing such a story? Are You Buying THRIFT STAMPS EVERY DAY?

If you buy 25c Thrift Stamps at the rate of only one a day, and exchange each book of 16 (with 12c) for a certificate worth $5.00 in 1923, you are saving money at the rate of $10.00 a month.

Good investment, isn't it? And a patriotic habit besides—for every single Thrift Stamp is a little added momentum behind the one great common desire—to shorten this war.

Thrift Stamps are for sale at the postoffice, by all mail carriers and at most stores.

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

'Pape's Diapepsin' Makes Sick, Sour, Gassy Stomachs Feel Fine.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into acids and cause a sick, sour gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin helps neutralize the excessive acids in the stomach so your food won't sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely, quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is upset you usually get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it helps to regulate your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is positive in neutralizing the acidity, so the misery won't come back very quickly. You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder due to acid fermentation. Advertisement.

Wigg—"How does Sublimus amuse himself since he moved out of town?" Wagg—"Oh, he's a chicken fancier. At least I see him with a couple every time he comes to the city."

The movie records of daily life of the men in all branches of the service, from the time they are awakened for reveille until taps at night. All the big events of camp-life have been recorded.

William Stokes, former Cleveland newspaper man, charged with impersonating a federal officer, and who is alleged to have made protracted physical examinations of several Chillicothe women, told military police today that he was ready to plead guilty to the charges against him. He intimated that he also will plead insanity. He is being held in solitary confinement in the Ross county jail.

Four additional batteries among the artillery regiments were confined to quarters today, following the discovery of measles among the men. In one battery the quarantine for measles was lifted.

Three artillery officers, one from each of the artillery regiments and one other officers from various units here today, were designated as instructors and assistant instructors for the third officers' training camp, which is to open here Saturday. Some of the successful applicants for the camp are here already.

Captain S. G. Bachman, 308th engineers, has been assigned to Fort Still to take the course in field fortifications. Second Lieutenant E. B. Kennedy, 332d infantry, will go to Fort Still shortly to take the grenade course. First Lieutenant M. B. Sunderland of the machine gun battalion, will study machine guns there, while First Lieutenant L. E. McCardie of the signal officers' reserve corps, will take the course in liaison instruction there.

A telegram from the war department contains the information that the enlistment regulations have been suspended during the war so as to permit the voluntary enlistment of married men under the same conditions as is provided for single men.

ACKNOWLEDGE THE SPLENDID WORK OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

The officers and directors of the Licking county chapter of the American Red Cross wish to acknowledge the splendid work done by the public and parochial schools and the business college of this city and by the schools of the county in the drive for Christmas members.

There is no question of the loyalty and patriotism of the children. It was an inspiration to see the enthusiasm with which they went to work and in every township where the children did the soliciting the results were astonishing.

All of those members who did not receive their buttons and window-cards from the children may get them by showing their new cards at the Red Cross headquarters, Third street, at any time between 8 and 11:30 a. m. and 1 and 5:30 p. m.

Families, all of whose members are members of the Red Cross, are requested to cut a star from white paper and paste in the center of the large red cross on the service flag.

ANNUAL REPORT
CHIEF ENGINEER
FIRE DEPARTMENT

Chief Engineer Louis Bausch of the fire department has submitted his annual report for the past year showing conditions and operations of the department and which is as follows:

Of the total number of alarms during the year, 118, there were numerous alarms against which no loss was charged. Of these 3 alarms were false. The total loss and number of alarms in comparison with those of last year, are as follows:

	Alarms	Loss
1916	139	$15,029.00
1917	118	15,486.32

The total loss is a very reasonable one, when consideration is given the fact that the year has been a busy one; also that the loss on one fire amounted to more than $9,000. This coupled with the severest weather that the department has had to contend for many years, makes the showing a very creditable one.

Fire prevention hints, especially those in regard to making the chimney safe, seems not to have been taken seriously. The more general use of coal, and the large fires needed in the severe cold, demands that the safeguarding of flues be given more earnest consideration. A loss of over $2000 is charged to this cause alone.

The saddest part of all the record is the statement that two persons lost their lives in fires during the year. One of these fatalities was caused by suffocation; the victim being unable to leave room to which he had returned after arousing the family to their danger. The other was a victim of the ever hazardous open grate.

Since my last report there has been no change in the fire apparatus of the city. We are pleased to state, however, that plans are now being made whereby the entire department will be soon motorized. This will mean not only an earlier arrival in fires, which means a reduction in fire loss, but also a great saving in the maintenance of the motor truck over that of the horse driven truck. This has invariably been the rule when trucks, guaranteed as to their reliability and with the reputation of their builders behind the guarantee, have been installed.

Alarms by Telephone.

Of the 118 fire alarms, 93, or nearly 80 per cent were sent in by telephone. Following is a summary:

CATCHER GETS COMMISSION.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Rechester, January 2.—Jimmy McAvoy, catcher with the Baltimore Orioles since the latter part of 1914, will leave with the new draft contingent as captain of division seven. McAvoy last season was the best catcher in the International League and if he were free this summer undoubtedly he would be with Connie Mack's Athletics.

HELP WIN THE WAR

The Ohio War Board says today: During 1918 America will more and more be called on to share with a hungry world what she can spare from her own board.

This can only be done by substituting other foods not needed for shipping.

Housewives are urged by the Food Administration to experiment with substitutions for wheat, meat and fats. When you get a good recipe pass it on to your neighbor.

Think and talk food conservation. Here is a list to hang in your kitchen for ready reference. Let it grow with your experiments:

Meat Substitutes: Poultry, rabbit, fish, eggs, cheese, baked beans, bean loaf, nut loaf, bean soup, milk soup, chowder, milk.

Wheat Substitutes: Corn bread, brown bread, cakes, buckwheat cakes, hominy, potato biscuit, rye bread, potatoes, rice.

PRESIDENT WILLARD SENDS GREETINGS TO BIG B. & O. FAMILY

To all Officers and Employees, Members of the Baltimore and Ohio Family:—Once more I wish to extend to my fellow officers and employees in the Baltimore and Ohio service, Greetings and Best Wishes for the New Year just begun.

During the year just ended our country has entered the war, and the President as a war measure has taken control of all the railroads in order that they may be used as one system and in that way be more effective in helping to win the war. Nothing is more important in connection with the entire war program here or in Europe than transportation, and the men who are helping to move freight and passenger trains safely and in the most expeditious manner possible under all the circumstances, are contributing personally and directly towards the success of the war.

About 2,000 Baltimore and Ohio employees are now in uniform, and it is the duty of those of us who remain at home to do everything we possibly can to strengthen and support those who have so patriotically offered their lives by joining the colors.

I want to urge upon every Baltimore and Ohio officer and employee that he keep constantly in mind the importance of his work as it relates to the war. Under the existing arrangement the work which he is doing for the railroad is of the highest importance to his country, and should be performed with a feeling of pride and patriotic duty. I am confident the Baltimore and Ohio men will do all that can fairly be expected of them in this emergency.

DANIEL WILLARD.

AKRON BOUT ENDS
IN A DRAW; NOW
FOR NEXT EVENT

Akron, Jan. 2.—After it appeared that he was hopelessly outclassed, his right eye closed and blood streaming from his nose and mouth, as the result of a blow on his face by Bryan Downey, that fiery wildcat nursed by Tom Jones, and hailing from Columbus, Johnny Griffiths, the Akron back stronger and ended out a draw in a 12-round battle staged here this afternoon.

Matt Hinkel of Cleveland was referee. Downey piled up a mountain of points in the first quarter of the chapter. The Griffiths proved to overcome the tremendous lead, round by round, pumping his left into the Columbus boy's face time and again without a return.

Downey tried hard to get the local boy via the route of his bone-cracking roundhouse rights and lefts, two of which did considerable damage in the opening round, when he bumped one of Griffiths' eyes and another of John Jones' jaw. Griffiths, however, had dropped any other lead who might be on the receiving end.

For the next three rounds Downey whined after the Akron prize, getting home his favorite wallop and wearing the heart out of Griffiths' supporters. His effort to land a knockout wallop or even a decisive victory, or Griffiths served to tire out the Tom Jones protégé, while Griffiths stood his marvelous left into action and steadily overcame the big lead and evened up in the closing sessions of the thrilling mill.

Downey won the first four rounds, while Griffiths took the seventh, eighth, ninth and eleventh. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth were even. Downey rushed Griffiths over the ropes at the start of the second and he swung a hard left to Johnny's head, drawing the blood. The tide turned to the Rubber City boy in the seventh, when he uppercuted his left to the body while Downey missed wild swings ducked by Griffiths.

It was in this round that Griffiths found his left and it was started on its way to Downey's head, frustrating all of the Columbus boy's lead. The tenth was Griffiths' big round. Their heads came in a rush and both boys were out.

Griffiths loosened up Griffiths and he went after Downey like a wildcat, hooking and slamming both rights and lefts to Downey's head and rushing the Columbus boy's head back. Griffiths evened up the score in the eleventh, jabbing his left without a return. The twelfth was even all the way.

A crowd of fight fans estimated at 2250, generously sprinkled with members of the fair sex, witnessed the classic card, the first ever held in the big armory.

DEMETRAL LOST
COLUMBUS MATCH
NEW YEAR'S DAY

Columbus, O., Jan. 2.—Well, Bill Demetral lost his first wrestling match in Columbus yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium to Wladimir Zbyszko, but it came about in a rather unusual way. After having been pinned to the mat for the first time in 22 minutes and 25 seconds by a headlock, Demetral came back for the second try and encountered a disqualification for unnecessary roughness. Thus he lost the bout and Zbyszko was declared the winner.

It mattered but little what the referee did in the matter, as far as the outcome of the match was concerned, for it was only a question of the length of time necessary for Zbyszko to secure the second fall from Demetral. From the very start it was seen that he was the Greek's master. He handled Bill as if he were a boy. Time after time

CHIROPRACTIC NERVE SCIENCE

"YOU ARE JUST AS OLD AS YOUR SPINE"

Even back as far as Caesar's time this saying was used. In later years, men substituted for it—"A man is just as old as he feels." Taking the two, and combining the meaning, we have the true expression and CHIROPRACTIC interpretation—"A MAN IS JUST AS OLD AS HIS SPINE ALLOWS HIM TO FEEL."

Demetral would secure what appeared to be a decisive hold only to have the "mighty son of Poland" break away as if he were in the hands of a child. During the hold he held on a little better than was necessary to secure the first fall. Zbyszko was behind his man the greater part of the time and on several occasions clamped holds that looked as if they would bring the answer. Demetral, however, demonstrated his cleverness in the pinches and managed to worm his way out.

Demetral used "ground rules" to get out of many holds by virtue of the laws provided that when a certain part of the wrestler's body is off the mat, holds are to be released, the contestants return to the center of the mat and new holds taken after taking this advantage in wriggling to the edge of the mat. Demetral would return to the center, but balked several times when ordered to permit the Foie to secure a hold.

It was after an argument of this kind that the hold that won the first fall was secured. They were wrestling close to the edge of the mat, with Zbyszko on the aggressive, when the referee ordered them to return to the mat. The Greek protested against going "underneath," but finally was persuaded to take his legal position. The Pole was on top of him and before Bill knew what was coming, Zbyszko had clamped a headlock on him. Demetral, after a few seconds, admitted the fall.

KILONIS WILL START TRAINING
NEXT SATURDAY

John Kilonis, matched to wrestle Paul Fowler Thursday evening, Jan. 10, at the Auditorium theatre, will arrive in the city Friday night and start his training Saturday morning. In a letter to a Newark friend he claims to be better than ever, and says that he is going to beat Fowler, for he believes that he can accomplish that feat.

It will be remembered that Kilonis is one of the most aggressive wrestlers ever appearing in a local match, and his form of going after his opponents pleases the fans. He is what is termed a "rough house" wrestler and when he meets him at his own game.

The fans wanted Fowler to give Kilonis another try. That was demonstrated when he read his challenge at the ringside the over evening. There is no doubt but that the Auditorium will be packed for the Greek is one of the best drawing cards in the game. It will be one evening of rare sport and if they can keep Kilonis on the stage instead of out in the audience, in the orchestra pit or out the seats at the matside, the local man ought to dispose of him to the satisfaction of his admirers, although he may find the big Greek a pretty tough proposition.

Arrangements are being made for a semi-final that will prove almost as popular as the main bout. They are not concluded however but will be announced in the near future.
